TO PREVENT CHILD VAGRANCY.

The following facts are the ones which the sponsors of senate bill No. 525, an act concerning child labor, should keep before the people. The bill is one introthat body May 17. It has been introduced into the mittee on industrial affairs.

First: The bill does not aim so much to introduce new features into the child labor situation as it does to make possible & better administration of the present and her hair is falling out. People advise me to have it want the big business man to pay return of war—one that had some laws and to make a law which will conform to the federal requirements.

Second Some kind of a child labor law will have to be passed by the present legislature. Otherwise, after athe first of next September, children going to work in the state of Illinois will be dbliged to have two certificates, a federal certificate and a state certificate. This would, of course, make untold complications and annoyance for employers. Illinois is not only behind all of the progressive northern states in the protection which she gives children going to work at 14, but also behind the requirements of the federal law. This bill has been very carefully drawn in constant communication with the federal children's bureau at Washington with the dren are always cainfuly dressed, her home is most atidea of making it conform to the federal law thruout.

war finds striking support in the experience of other camera. countries. On March 20 Lord Shaughnessy, president of the Canadian Pacific Rallway company and one of the British organizers of victory, thus described conditions in the Dominion:

As many Canadians have been killed at home by tuberculosis since the war began as have been killed by the war itself. Yet it is an entirely preventable disease. If we stop its ravages we shall more than make up for the ravages of the war. If we stay in the rut and let this enemy go on killing our people at home as fast as the Germans can kill at the front, then the less we talk about our national enterprise and intelligence the better.

How ready Illinois is to combat this evil is seen in the statement that with 8,000 deaths annually from, and seditionaries of this country. And while there 2,700 beds for the use of such sufferers. PLAN LIBERTY LOAN PARADE

Procession Monday Night to Come After Big Day in the Shops.

BANKS WILL REMAIN OPEN

Arrangements are under way for a liberty loan parade thru the downtown streets Monday night. This is part of the demonstration planned for the day; when the final and greatest drive will be made to get subecriptions for the bonds here. Au-Fora is $200,000 behind on its quota Addresses will be made at the shops and factories during the day and at theaters in the evening. Attorneys Sam Stephens and Maurice Lord have been added to the roster of the speakers who will canvass the factories and theaters. Arch and Ralph Richards of Geneva, and City Attorney Albert J. Kelley will speak. Members of Post 20, G. A. R., militie companies and a number of other military organizations will be asked to take part in the parade, People are expected to visit the banks in large numbers to make inquiries as to the loan as the banks will be open from 7 to 9 p. m.

With but six days remaining in the campaign for the liberty loan, $100,000,000 must be subscribed each day to make up the $2,000,000,000 issue. Subscriptions heretefore have been at the rate of about $54,000,000 daily. Little doubt is entertained that the tagal amount will be raised, as those persons who habitually wait until the eleventh hour are beginning or her share.

Speakers will be at the Burlington shops at 12:45 Monday noon, in their round of the shops. More than 30 NEW FIRE ALARM speakers in touch with thousands of workers.

Besides subscribing for $5.000,000 of the bonds for the railroad corporation the Burlington has also made plans by which employes may sub-Bonds subscribed for by Burlington workers will be placed to the credit of the quota expected of Aurora.

SAYS CONSTABLE SEIZED AUTO OF WRONG PERSON

The automobile taken from the home of Mrs. Agnes Krantz, Claim street road, yesterday, was not the property of Dr. Harry R. Thurber. Mrs. Elizabeth Hankes, 180 Rural street, sister-in-law of Mrs. Krantz, said today. Mrs. Hankes says she bought the machine from Dr. Thurber on June 1 for $700. Deputy Sheriff Orr attached the automobile yesterday on a judgment for $330 assessed against Dr. Thurber in Justice Dutton's court by Isidor Leins, a contractor. He said Mrs. Krantz attacked him with a horse whip when he tried to get the car.

"Orr did not tell the truth when he said Mrs. Krantz beat him with a horsewhip," Mrs. Hankes said today. He also told an untruth when he said that Dr. Thurber has been staying nights at the Krantz home. My sister-in-law is a widow and it was unfair for Orr to say anything like that.

"I was the one who hit Orr but I don't know whether I had a horsewhip or not. He came there after the automobile when he had no right to take it. I happened to be there and closed the gate. He tried to force his way in and one of the department when he was in office. It children handed me a stick or something. I hit him over the hand once. Other women in the neighborhood equipment to put the plan into effect. yelled and told me I ought to hit him over the head.

SAYS CUT NAILS HAVE BEST GRIP

Authority Discusses Kinds of Nails to Be Used in Roofing.

PERMANENCE, WATCHWORD

(By John Domagall.) With the coming of high-priced material and labor, the matter of permanent nalls, and especially roof nails, looms up as a very important item, inasmuch as the roof is no betfer than the nails it is held down

State engineering colleges have taken up the question and are making actual weather tests of the different kinds of natis to determine their lasting qualities. Farm papers and building trade journals are advocating the use of permanent nails. Manufacturers and dealers of wood, asphalt and asbestos shingles are recommending nails of one kind or another; but nowhere has a definite stand been taken to define a certain nail for a certain place.

One authority says, "I have learned that all nails that are solid copper, solid zine or zinc coated are in the permanent nall class. However, each grade has its specific use which may be considered standard, aitho, as said before, many builders do not know what is a proper nail to use and take the first thing offered.

"For roofing tile, solld copper wire nails should be used; for roofing plate, copper wire or copper cut natis or zinc cut nails for asbestos slilngles, copper wire er zine conted wire nails; for wood shingles, zinc coated wire nails; for metal shingles zinc coated wire nails; for asphalt shingles, zinc coated wire nails.

"It must be remembered that no all gine coated nails are permanent nails. Permanent wire nails have base of steel and should have a coating of not less than 10 per dent, while the cut nails usually have a base of wrought iron which in itself is a well known rust resistant, and should have a coating of not less than 74 per cent. Natis that are coated by any other than the hot process cannot consistently be considered as per manent nails.

"Here in America, where roofs are laid in rapid-fire order, we lean to wire nails because a little time is saved in driving them, while in foreign countries, where roofs are put on to last for generations, out nails are mostly used. Cut nails have more holding power than wire nalls of equal size. In a government test cut nails showed a 72 per cent holding power superiority over wire nails of equal size.

"The day is near at hand when roofing manufacturers will specify the particular kind of nails their product must be nalled with in order to get best results, and when this practice comes into general use owners will be assured of permanent roof jobs so far as the nails are con-

"HOMES OF CHARACTER"

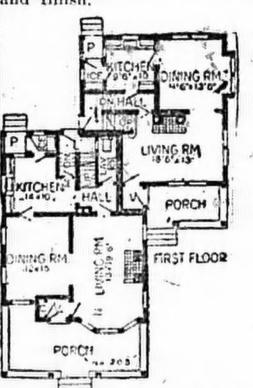

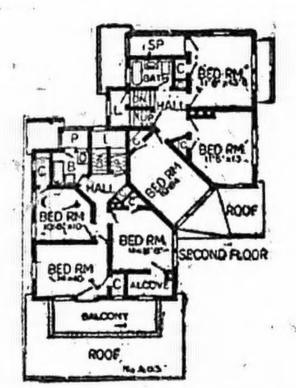

This double residence (41x55 feet) occupies a corner lot and has been designed to keep an effeet of unity in the general mass and to do away with the general stereotyped design usually found in investment properties. So far as expense is concerned it has been no greater than though rooms. Care should be taken not to Executioner Schweitz, who accumuthe home had been built without the aid of architect's plans, while the effect has been gratifying leave near the walls any objects that lated a competancy and retired. not only to the owner and his tenants, but to property owners in the immediate neighborhood.

The investment has been enhanced by virtue of the fact that the renting public is drawn by a well designed structure, a fact which has been many times proven where the ordinary "For Rent" house is passed by at a low figure for one renting for considerably more money by reason of possessing style and character.

The first floor plan provides for both houses really facing the same street, while the dining room and living room of each house are on the front. The living room of the rear house is favored with a front exposure and a side street exposure as well, as also the porch for this rear house. Note that each house has all the features of any well designed home, having access to the front doors from the kitchens, grade landing stairs, easy access to the second floor from the kitchens and the living rooms, ice rooms, kitchen porches, and each separated in a way that neither will become a nuisance to the other. A fire wall separates the two houses on both the first and second floor so that the insurance risk is minimized. Each house has three bedrooms upon the second floor. Bathrooms are off the halls and each house has a second floor balcony or porch. The halls are very small and stairs extend off of the same to attics which are also divided by a fire wall. An elegant "Home of Character" and one which will wonderfully assist the investor in covering the expense of various items in the upkeep of the home.

$5,000 should cover the costs of this home, if built of inexpensive materials, while $7,500 could be invested in it to advantage where the locality and rents would warrant the highest grade of equipment and finish

ONSERVING resources is the watchword of the day. It is a well established fact that our greatest waste is in the fuel we burn, of which from 60 to 80 per cent is lost, chiefly thru improper combustion.

We offer as a solution, our Down Draft Furnace, which we know and feel sure we can convince you will cut that loss more than 50 per cent. This furnage will burn the cheapest kind of soft coal, including screenings, with comparatively no smoke.

We also carry in stock five other kinds of furnaces. We will guarantee every furnace we install.

Use Soft Water

It is the better for cleansing purposes and the more economical-its entire cost coming in the initial expense of installing roofing gutters, conductors and cistern.

When you build take into consideration the convenience of having soft water in the home, ask us for estimates on the roofing gutters and conductors you'll need, and you'll never regret the few additional dollars spent for this purpose.

Organized in 1901. The Emmanuel Lutheran school was organized in December, 1901. The Rev. C. J. Fricke, pastor of the congregation, took charge of this school at that time. In April, 1902, Prof.

E. C. Hoffman was installed as the first regular teacher. The congregation at that time held its services and school in the Evangelical Lutheran Norwegian church in Clark and BeVier place. This church building soon became too small for the prospering congregation and school. The present church building, with its annexed schoolroom, was built. The adjoining school building in the rear of the church building served, and will henceforth, among various purposes, serve as vestry and Sunday school room. The dedication of this school building took place Nov. 30, 1902. In the late summer of 1905, the Rev. C. J. Fricke extended the school classes, teaching the lower grades in his study. Miss Nettie Eirich continued this work later on. In April. 1914, Prof. A. H. Brinkman was installed as second regular teacher.
